Impaired Driving Threatens Everyone

Last year nearly 16,000 people were killed, more than 300,000 injured and an estimated 1.5 million people arrested, as a result of alcohol-related crashes. All drivers risk impairment when consuming alcohol or drugs whether legal, over-the-counter and prescription medications or illegal substances such as marijuana, cocaine or other illicit drugs. The average American has a 30 percent chance of being killed or injured by an impaired driver during their lifetime.

Reducing alcohol-related traffic fatalities is one of the top priorities of both the 6th Area Support Group and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. The national goal is to lower the death toll to no more than 11,000 by 2005. To meet this challenge NHTSA launched the You Drink & Drive, You Lose campaign Dec. 1, 1999, as part of Celebrate Safe and Sober and National Drunk and Drugged Driving Prevention Month. The campaign's message is a simple one: Make the right choice, don't drink and drive. However, thousands of Americans continue to make the wrong choices every year.

Drunk drivers come in all ages, genders and backgrounds. While the number of alcohol-related fatalities is at an all-time low, impaired driving is still a leading cause of death for people under age 30.
